

ABSTRACT

A system of valves is disclosed wherein said valves operate over a designated pressure interval and are arranged to actuate performance of a sequenced set of events by downhole tools with the application of pressure to said valves.